I INTRODUCTION

1. General Provisions

1. Legal acts of the Republic of Latvia and the regulatory acts related thereto set forth the specific provisions to be complied with by the capital companies that are listed in a regulated market in Latvia in relation to their administration and disclosure of information. Nowadays, it is the disclosed financial and non-financial information that is very important in the evaluation of the business of a capital company, therefore, it can be surely said that it is required for capital companies to implement a strictly determined procedure for the provision of internal and external accounts and to ensure timely disclosure of substantial information.

The objective and aim of corporate governance is to increase the value of a company but it can be implemented only if all the interests and rights of shareholders are complied with.

2. The basis of any corporate governance is the determination of the powers of the council and the board of a capital company, balancing their skills, experience and also independence in accordance with the business type and volume of the company. The most essential are honesty, independence, responsibility and compliance with ethical principles of the persons who might affect the strategy and financial independence of the Issuer, and the council should consist of good professionals with high principles of moral.

Taking into account that it is impossible to specify one uniform best cooperative governance model that could be applied by all the Issuers to equally efficient extent, these recommendations provide a summary of the key principles that should be considered as the basis of the best corporate governance.

3. These Principles of Corporate Governance and Recommendations on their Implementation (hereinafter – the Recommendations) have been prepared taking into account the requirements for capital companies laid down in the legal acts of the Republic of Latvia as well as the recommendations of the European Union and the OECD (Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development) on the governance of capital companies. The principles of corporate governance should be complied with not only by the capital companies the shares of which are listed on the regulated market organized by NASDAQ OMX Riga (hereinafter – the Stock Exchange) – they are recommended to any other capital company.

2. Objective of the Recommendations

4. A quality governance and transparency of the capital companies the stocks of which are included in the market regulated by the Stock Exchange (hereinafter – the Issuers) becomes more and more significant a criterion for investors when choosing the object of investments. 5. Since the governance of the Issuers is based on the legal acts binding to the Issuers, these Recommendations are intended to supplement the procedures laid down in such legal acts.

6. For the purposes of these Recommendations the term “corporate governance” shall mean a system by means of which the business of the Issuer is organized. Corporate governance is a set of measures for attaining the Issuer's business objectives, monitoring the Issuer's business and assessing and managing risks thereof.

3. Implementation of the principles of corporate governance in the Issuer's activity

7. The Issuers are called on to evaluate and implement the principles of good corporate governance referred to herein as a confirmation of the fact that the Issuer is interested in protecting the rights of its shareholders and ensuring their interests. Every Issuer shall have the right to free choice whether to apply these principles in their activity and to what extent.

8. The Issuers are asked to acquaint also their shareholders with these principles for them to evaluate these principles and the necessity to implement them in the activity of the Issuer adequately. It is important to acquaint shareholders with the principles of corporate governance in cases when it is required to adopt specific decisions for the implementation of separate principles, e.g. in case of amendments to the statutes of the Issuer or other organizational documents which are approved by the shareholders' meeting.

9. On the implementation of the corporate governance principles in their business, the Issuers shall prepare the Corporate Governance Report (hereinafter – the Report) that shall be prepared in compliance with the principle “comply with or explain”.

If any principle is not applied or applied partially, the Issuer shall provide in its Report the information on the circumstances due to which the principle in question is not or cannot be implemented.

REMUNERATION POLICY

To avoid it, the Issuer shall develop a clear remuneration policy, specifying general principles, types and criteria for the remuneration to be awarded to the board or council members.

13.1 The Issuers are called on to develop a remuneration policy in which the main principles for setting the remuneration, possible remuneration schemes and other essential related issues are determined. While preparing the remuneration policy Issuer should ensure that the remuneration of management and supervisory board members is proportionate to the remuneration of the Issuer's executive and managing directors and other employees.

13.2 Without limiting the role and operations of the Issuer's management bodies responsible for setting remuneration to the board and council members, the drafting of the remuneration policy should be made a responsibility of the Issuer's board, which during the preparation of a draft policy should consult with the Issuer's council. In order to avoid conflicts of interest and to monitor the management board remuneration policy, the Issuer should appoint a responsible person having sufficient experience and knowledge in the field of remuneration for development of the remuneration policy.

13.3 Should the remuneration policy contain a remuneration structure with a variable part in the form of the Issuer's shares or share options or any other payments, including premiums, it should be linked to previously defined short-term and long-term goals and performance criteria. If remuneration depends on fulfillment of short-term goals only, it is not likely to encourage an interest in the company's growth and improved performance in the long-term.

The scope and structure of the remuneration should depend on the business performance of the company, share price and other Issuer's events.

13.4 While setting the variable part of remuneration, Issuer should set limits on the variable component(s). The non-variable part of remuneration should be sufficient to allow the Issuer to withhold variable part of remuneration when necessary.

13.5 Where a variable part of remuneration provides Issuer's shares, share options or any other acquisition rights thereof, it should be desirable to prescribe a minimum non-used period of time.

13.6 Remuneration policy should include provisions that permit the Issuer to reclaim variable part of remuneration that were awarded on the basis of data which subsequently proved to be manifestly misstated. Such provision should be included in contracts concluded between the respective executives and the Issuer.

13.7 Remuneration schemes that include Issuer's shares as remuneration may theoretically cause loss to the Issuer's existing shareholders because the share price might drop due to a new issue of shares. Therefore, prior to the preparation and approval of this type of remuneration, it shall be required to assess the possible benefits or losses.

13.8 When preparing the remuneration policy where a variable part is in the form of the Issuer's shares or share options, the Issuer shall be obliged to disclose information on how the Issuer plans to ensure the amount of shares to be granted in compliance with the approved remuneration schemes— whether it is planned to obtain them by buying on a regulated market or by issuing new shares.

13.9 While drafting the remuneration policy and envisaging awarding options entitling to the Issuer's shares, the Stock Exchange rules regarding distribution of share options should be taken into account.

13.10 While setting remuneration principles with regard to board and council members, they should include general approach as to compensations, if any, in cases when contracts with the said officials are terminated (termination payments). Termination payments should not be paid if the termination is due to inadequate performance.

13.11 It is recommended to set an adequate maximum amount of the termination payments which should not be higher than two years of the non-variable part of remuneration.

In such case, Remuneration Report should have a reference to the Remuneration Policy, together with an indication where it is made available.

14.4 If the Issuer believes that, as a result of following the provisions of Item 14.2 of these Recommendations sensitive business information might become public to the detriment of the Issuer's strategic position, the Issuer may not disclose such information and give the reasons.
