

PRESS RELEASE: Qflow welcomes Nordnorsk Byggekontroll to the group

Qflow strengthens its presence in Northern Norway by welcoming Nordnorsk Byggekontroll (NNBK) to the group. With nearly 60 years of experience, a strong local presence, and specialist expertise in construction and project management, NNBK is an important addition to Qflow's growing operations in Norway.

We are very pleased to welcome Nordnorsk Byggekontroll to Qflow. NNBK complements our Norwegian operations in an excellent way through its strong position in Northern Norway, deep local knowledge, and specialist expertise in project and construction management. The company has built a very strong reputation over many years and shares our values around quality, long-term commitment, and close customer relationships. Together, we strengthen our ability to support customers in construction and infrastructure across Norway, says Martin Dahlgren, CEO of Qflow Group.

— Emile Hamon, Deputy CEO, Qflow Group

NNBK is a leading project administration consultancy in Northern Norway, with roots dating back to 1968. The company has approximately 20 employees and offices in Tromsø and Harstad. NNBK offers services within project management, construction management, HSE coordination, as well as surveying and drone services, working with both public and private clients. With a strong local presence, long-standing experience, and deep understanding of the Northern Norwegian market, the company helps its clients deliver complex construction and infrastructure projects throughout the entire project lifecycle.

NNBK has been an independent advisory company since 1968. The owners of NNBK have not actively sought to sell the company, but were contacted by Qflow to explore whether there was interest in expanding NNBK's market reach. Through dialogue, it became clear that becoming part of Qflow was the right step for NNBK. NNBK offers services within HSE, project management, and construction management. NNBK is a dedicated project administration company with the client in focus. We believe NNBK's participation in Qflow will contribute to the development of both NNBK and Qflow in the northern regions. NNBK's success factors have long been local knowledge and a good working environment, based on NNBK's values: closeness, care, integrity, and dedication.
