

Qflow Welcomes Blueprint Project Solutions Ltd and Expands Its UK Presence

Qflow welcomes Blueprint Project Solutions as an important part of the Qflow Group. Together, we are strengthening our offering in infrastructure, energy and the built environment across the UK. Blueprint's leading expertise in project management and advisory services supports the growing demand for specialist capabilities in complex infrastructure and energy projects. The acquisition further strengthens Qflow's position in the UK market and creates an even stronger platform for continued growth, collaboration and knowledge sharing across the UK and the Nordics.

We are delighted to welcome Blueprint Project Solutions to Qflow. Their strong reputation, talented team and deep client relationships make them an excellent fit for our group. Blueprint further strengthens our platform in the UK and represents another important step in our ambition to build the leading specialist consulting group in infrastructure and the built environment.

— Martin Dahlgren, CEO, Qflow Group

Blueprint Project Solutions is a UK-based specialist consultancy providing project controls, programme management and risk advisory services to clients in the infrastructure, energy, nuclear and defence sectors. Founded in 2011, the company has built a strong reputation for supporting the delivery of complex projects and programmes across some of the UK's most strategically important investments.

Headquartered in Stonehouse, Gloucestershire, Blueprint employs approximately 45 people and offers expertise in planning, scheduling, cost management, risk analysis and programme delivery. The company has established long-term relationships with leading organisations and has contributed to major programmes across the UK's infrastructure, energy, nuclear and defence sectors.

Since founding Blueprint in 2014, we have grown into a team of more than 45 people, working on some of the UK's most significant programmes across the energy, defence and infrastructure sectors. I'm incredibly proud of what we have built together and of everyone who has contributed to our success over the last 12 years.

Joining Qflow marks an exciting new chapter for us. What really attracted us to Qflow was their belief in what we have built, their ambition for the business and the strong alignment in our values. They understand what makes Blueprint successful and share our desire to build on that, while bringing the backing and wider network to help us grow.

We have ambitious plans for the future, and joining Qflow gives us the opportunity to take the business to the next level. I'm really looking forward to working with our new colleagues across Qflow and to what the future holds for our people, our clients and Blueprint.

— Simon Kirkbride, MANAGING DIRECTOR, Blueprint

About Qflow

Qflow Group brings together the best consultants in community development, and together we create a smarter and more sustainable society — innovation and collaboration for the future.

Today, Qflow consists of 39 companies within the Group, with approximately 1,300 consultants and revenue of approximately SEK 2,300 million. Qflow is a leading player in the consulting market within community development and brings together leading specialists in the sector.

Our network includes some of the best consultants for creating better flow in the construction and infrastructure industry. We do this by working with smarter project management and technical solutions. Together, the Qflow Group helps connect a fragmented value chain and identify synergies between entrepreneurs that can promote innovation and development.