Rejlers and Sinfra sign framework agreement for security

The central purchasing body Sinfra, with more than 500 municipal member companies, and Rejlers have signed a framework agreement for a wide range of security consultancy services, such as information security, crisis and continuity. Rejlers is one of eleven suppliers covered by the framework agreement, which is valid for two years, with the possibility of extension for a further two years.

Sinfra supports its member companies by procuring technical equipment and services. For the first time, the organisation has procured security consulting services, which means that the member companies, with their socially critical operations in district heating, water and sewerage and electricity, are given increased opportunities to strengthen their security protection.

"We are in a new security situation, which means that socially critical organisations need to future-proof their operations. Sinfra has carried out an extensive and important procurement, which makes it easier for members to secure their operations. We look forward to helping them in this important work," says Terje Steisjö, Business Unit Manager for Total Defence and Civil Security at Rejlers' Communication & Security Division.

The two-year framework agreement, with the possibility of extension for a further two years, will enter into force on 15 March. The framework agreement covers consultancy services in the areas of: physical security, information security, IT security, crisis and continuity, penetration testing, personnel security and security protection. Rejlers has a strong local presence and a large partner network and will be able to deliver in all service areas throughout Sweden.
