

Invitation to Yubico's Capital Markets Day 2026: Securing Digital Identities in the Age of AI

Yubico invites investors, financial analysts and media to join its Capital Markets Day 2026 on November 19, 2026, either in Stockholm or via livestream.

CEO Jerrod Chong, together with members of Yubico's executive leadership team, will share the company's long-term vision and strategy for the next decade of digital identity. The presentations will explore how Yubico is helping secure digital identities in the age of AI, while providing deeper insight into the company's product roadmap, go-to-market strategy, customer stories and long-term financial direction. The presentation will conclude with a live Q&A session. Attendees may participate in person or virtually. A recording of the presentations and supporting materials will be made available on Yubico's Investor Relations website following the event.

Date: November 19, 2026

Place: The program starts at 15:00 CET in Stockholm and registration for physical attendance opens at 14:30 CET. The event ends around 19:00 CET.

Registration: Registration is required for participation, both on-site and digital, via the following link:
<https://yubico.events.indes.com/cmd-2026/register>

Confirmation is required for physical attendance as there are a limited number of seats.
