There are no qualifications in the Group's consolidated annual report for the year ending 31 December 2022.

What are the key risks that are specific to the issuer?

Negative economic developments in the countries in which the Group operates may affect the Group's operations and customers. Economic slowdown or a recession, regardless of its depth, or any other negative economic developments in the countries in which the Group operates may affect the Group's business in a number of ways, including, among other things, the income, wealth, liquidity, business and/or financial position of the Group, its customers and its suppliers.

Exposure of business results to geopolitical events. On 24 February 2022, Russia launched a military assault on Ukraine. This has led to significant volatility in the global credit markets and on the global economy. Although, as of the date of the Base Prospectus, the restrictive measures imposed have had no material impact on the Group's performance, introduction of new sanctions packages could possibly lead to the inclusion of the Group's existing partners or their shareholders in the sanctions list. As a result, there is still a risk that implementation of some contracts may be suspended. There is also a risk that due to the rapidly changing environment other aspects related to geopolitical events may arise that are not currently identified but may affect the Group's business results.

Sanctions risk. The Group shall comply with the Law on National Sanctions of the Republic of Latvia, as well as international sanctions (UN, EU, US). Russia's invasion of Ukraine has led to unprecedented EU and US government sanctions against Russian and Belarusian companies and individuals. Failure to comply with Latvian national sanctions or international sanctions (UN, EU, US) may have serious legal and reputational consequences for the Group, including exposure to fines as well as criminal and civil penalties.

The Group's continuously growing and developing operations require careful capital expenditure planning and working capital management. Expansion of operations and increase in demand for the Group's products and services require careful capital expenditure planning and optimisation, as well as working capital management. In case of unexpected level of demand fluctuations, tied-up capital may significantly render the Group's level of profitability, as well as liquidity position. Failure of successful capital expenditure and working capital management may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial position, results of operations and future prospects and, thereby, on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Notes, as well as the market price and value of the Notes.

Construction and industrial equipment rental market growth depends on related industries. Adverse construction and rental market development and absence of market growth may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition, results of operations and future prospects and thereby, on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Notes, as well as the market price and value of the Notes.

The capital-intensive nature of the Group's operations requires significant capital expenditures and may limit the Group's ability to react to changes in market circumstances. Disadvantageous changes in the equipment demand, as well as unfavourable terms of financing or unavailability of financing may have a material disadvantageous effect on the Group's business, financial condition, results of operations and future prospects and, thereby, on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Notes, as well as the market price and value of the Notes.

The Group's corporate acquisitions and asset purchases in outsourcing arrangements may not integrate successfully or integration may require more resources than estimated. The Group's expansion and business development are partly based on corporate acquisitions. Unless the Group is able to integrate the companies or assets possibly to be acquired in the future into its own operations successfully, its ability to expand its operations and to operate efficiently may weaken.

Increased competition in the equipment rental industry may have an adverse effect on the profitability of the Group's operations. The competitor's activities, such as launching new service concepts, innovations in pricing, improvements in promotional and marketing activities and business strategies, may reduce the Group's sales or profitability or increase costs, which may in turn have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial position, results of operations and future prospects and, thereby, on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Notes, as well as the market price and value of the Notes.

Interest rate risk. The Group is exposed to interest rate risk mainly through its interest-bearing debt. Fluctuations in interest rates may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial position, results of operations and future prospects and, thereby, on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Notes, as well as the market price and value of the Notes.

Financing risk. Uncertainty in the financial market may mean that the price of the financing needed to carry out the Group's business may increase and that financing may be less readily available. It is possible that the Group may encounter difficulties in raising funds and, as a result, lack the access to liquidity that it needs, and there can be no assurance that the Group will be able to meet its financial covenants when required. This may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial position, results of operations and future prospects and, thereby, on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Notes, as well as the market price and value of the Notes.

An investor is always solely responsible for the economic consequences of its investment decisions.

No security. The Notes are unsecured debt instruments and the Noteholders would be unsecured creditors in the event of the Issuer's insolvency.

Risk that the Guarantee will be subject to certain limitation on enforcement and may be limited by the applicable law or subject to certain defenses that may limit its validity and enforceability. The Guarantee (as defined in the General Terms and Conditions of the Notes) provide the Noteholders with a claim against the Guarantor (as defined in the General Terms and Conditions of the Notes). However, the Guarantee will be limited to the maximum amount that can be guaranteed by the Guarantor without rendering the Guarantee voidable or otherwise ineffective under the applicable law, and enforcement of the Guarantee would be subject to certain generally available defenses. There is also a possibility that the entire Guarantee may be set aside, in which case the entire liability may be extinguished. If a court decides that the Guarantee was a preference, fraudulent transfer or conveyance and voids the Guarantee, or holds it unenforceable for any other reason, the Noteholders may cease to have any claim in respect of the Guarantor and would be a creditor solely of the Issuer.

The enforcement of the Guarantee will be subject to the procedures and limitations set out in the General Terms and Conditions of the Notes. Even when the Guarantee is enforceable, the enforcement is subject to the procedures and limitations agreed in the General Terms and Conditions. Any enforcement of the Guarantee may be delayed due to the provisions of the General Terms and Conditions of the Notes.
